CLASS OF 1998

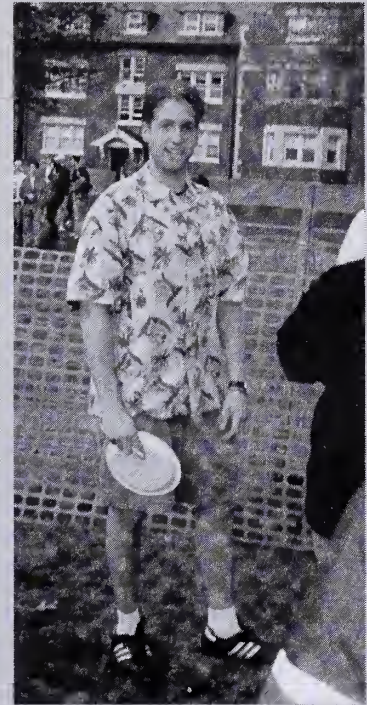

Reflections

We are not quite seniors yet, but it was a great year filled with new responsibilities. There was a need to decide what direction the rest of our lives would take. The GRES and MCATS became our biggest fears. Though our fears were strong our friendships were stronger. Our class, as a whole, worked very well together. We have all been here for each other through it all. Our bonds have helped us get this far, and we know that they will help us get through the rest of our lives. As we watch the seniors graduate, we realize that we are next in line. As this year comes to an end, we see our next year as if we are standing on line to a crazy roller coaster ride. You can expect the ups and downs, but some of the turns may throw you for a loop. Your friends from Muhlenberg will always be sitting next to you, so relax.

Two lovely ladies, Donna Healy and Karen McCrossen, get together for a fun PhiSig Dinner.
A bunch of zany and crazy AXO sisters show their enthusiasm for all of the events during Greek Week.

There is no caption that will do Matt Massaro and Dan Savloff justice here. Stuart Druckman awaits the great feast of BBQ that was at East Fest. Matt Bourbeau and Ron Rade are taking some time off from studying for finals. Robin Masinter and Adam Theriault are having a great time at East Fest.

Times to remember!

We want to know if Hope Jann, John Dougherty, and Lisa Grandinetti are really having fun.

Christine McClay and Karin Kelly

John Dimitrion, you don't look like you enjoyed the ride.

Andrea Colettis, Kristen Musser, Melissa Osorio and Carly Ringer get ready for "girls' night out."

Todd Ervin, Jason Zinna, and Sean Topping hope their screaming helps ATO win tug.

David Garbe does an excellent job making sure everything goes great for Jefferson Field Day.

Amy Camilleri, Nicole Goscile, and Alissa Jacobs huddle together in the cold.
 Heather Clauss and Wendy Simkulah show us that RA's can have fun too.
 James Tulli does a great job helping Soul Clown in both the technical and musical aspect.
 Regina Lee and Adrienne Te take advantage of the beautiful weather while sitting in Parent's Plaza.

Power hitter, Steve Daniel, shows his strength in athletics as well as in school, nothing can hold him back.

Heather Cody takes a break from all the fun she has been having to pose for a picture.

Carrie Belinfante, Melissa Margaritis and Stephanie Melofsky step out in style to show their support for a good cause, AIDS Awareness.

It is hard to believe it was only two short years ago that we were moving in and saying hello to our new friends across the hall or those we met hanging out on Brown Mall. On these pages are just a few faces in the many Muhlenberg places where we have made memories everyday starting in parents plaza with Alex and a vacuum and later watching Nancy read about the flowers bloom while Gretchen and Amanda enjoy their cotton candy Angel and D'Arcy admit that G.Q. food is dandy and Briner gives us a deep look while watching his tennis court Yael and Raj hold down the East Quad fort Danielle helps out with a little Jefferson boy while Andrea and Jenn walk to a Dynamics practice filled with joy! and Mariah has such a devious look as Liz buries her nose in a good book Dalton, well we're not quite sure but we do know that the next few sophomore pages are better than ever before!

Fun With The Family...

It's A Formal Affair!

Battle Of

Remember way back in the day when all we wanted to do was play?
Girls really didn't care about dirtying their dresses or making great huge messes.
The little boys just wanted to jump and run but then one day, we discovered we needed each other to have fun!
It started with the "he said, she said" game,
then we realized that, too, was pretty lame.
So, after this came the flirting thing but even that barely made the phone ring and now we've got a few years of college where we'll attempt to fill our heads with knowledge, but let's be honest, let's get it right,
perhaps guys and girls were just born to fight.
No matter what, one thing is true,
we need each other all the same.....but that you already knew!

The Sexes....

Freshmen

CLASS OF 2000

On August 23rd, 1996, Muhlenberg's largest and most diverse class literally "moved in". Though confronted with a new environment and new faces, with help of student advisors and faculty, they quickly adjusted. It was not long after their three day orientation that friendships began. Little did they know their newly formed friendships would grow and become everlasting. Throughout their first year, their new experiences created numerous memories which will never be forgotten and will be looked back upon. Due to the diversity and unique characteristics of each person in this class, they will be sure to reflect upon one another and surely prosper and make a difference in the future.

- Jill Lovejoy, Heidi Herder, and Sara Monaco catch some rays on a beautiful spring day.
- Troy Urquhart and Dan Wolf enjoy living in Prosser.
- Sam Stein takes a break from his busy day in Seegers Union.

We have only just begun...

— JoAnn D'Orazio, Liz Stomski, Carolyn Nurnberg, Katie Mattis, Larissa Povoromo, Jamie Tamis, Melissa Catalanello are in the spirit for Toga Night.

— Janine Adderly, Raysa Valerio, and Diane Collazo are on their way back from class.

— Liz Stomski and Diana Viada are not only roommates, but great friends.

What a pass!

Although the football team won only one of 10 games, the Mules' run-and-shoot offense and aggressive defense provided for much excitement throughout the season and also led to a pair of near-upsets. Muhlenberg broke a 21-game winless streak with a 40-27 win over Swarthmore on Oct. 12. Topping the 40-point barrier for the first time in seven years, junior quarterback George Fosdick threw for four touchdowns. On Nov. 2, the Mules battled Centennial Conference champion Ursinus into the first overtime game in school history before falling, 13-7. The following week at home, Muhlenberg led Carnegie Mellon late in the fourth quarter, but gave up two late touchdowns for a 23-20 heartbreaking loss. Senior Dan Terpstra, one of six graduating senior starters, led the team in most defensive categories and was voted to the All-Centennial Conference first team. The younger players paced the offense. Sophomore Mike Martino was the team's leading rusher, including a 168-yard performance against Ursinus, and receiver Kenyamo McFarlane became the first Mule freshman to average 20 yards per catch since 1968.

Brian Fanning makes a beautiful dive for the football.

#50 Tony Orazi and #12 George Fosdick step up to the line.

#36 Chris Cannell glances up from the team talk to make sure we aren't catching any of their strategy.

He Shoots . . .

Only a team with standards as high as Muhlenberg men's soccer team could be disappointed with a season in which it finished second in the conference and qualified for the NCAA Tournament. The Mules started the season ranked third in Division III, but a difficult early schedule and the inability to put the ball in the back of the net contributed to the final record of 11-5-4. An own goal against Johns Hopkins cost the team a shot at its third straight Centennial Conference championship. The Mules did earn a bid to the NCAA's for the seventh time in the last eight years, but lost to Elizabethtown, 2-1, in the first round on a penalty kick with nine minutes to go. Jake Schmidt, the only senior on the team, was sensational, setting Conference records for fewest goals allowed and highest save percentage.

#7 Steve Albrecht blocks an opponent allowing Brian Bolen to take over and rush the goal.

She Scores!

There must have been something wrong with the nets this year. Like the men's team, the women had trouble scoring goals and lost six matches 1-0 to finish with a record of 6-10-2. The defense in front of sophomore goalkeeper Jackie Vanderstreet was outstanding, allowing a school record-low 21 goals in 18 contests. Sophomore midfielder Celina Boer led the women's soccer team in scoring and was voted to the All-Centennial Conference first team.

Senior Jill Hoffman shows her skills on the soccer field.

Everyone runs to congratulate Tina Rachut after she scores an amazing goal.

The Mules demonstrate their unity when they huddle together before a game.

In complete control, Allison Fish sets up the ball for a pass.

Kendra Kern races to retrieve the ball from her opponent.

Lisa Wojtowicz, Celina Boer, Shannon Lowther, and the rest of their teammates wonder what the call is.

Captain Christen Uryniak effortlessly glides past her competition.

Amanda Sciarra and Nancy Fernandez are showing their strength and putting fear into the opponent.

Stacy Devine and Andrea Cook show the opponent they know that ball is theirs.

Andrea Cook, Stacy Devine, Mandy Sciarra, and Nancy Fernandez get ready to help goalie Patricia Dehoff stop a penalty corner.

Slap 'em Down

It was a tale of two seasons for the field hockey team: seven losses in the first eight games, but then a six-game winning streak, including three straight sudden-death overtimes in a span of four days. Although the mules lost their finale to fall under .500, it wasn't a bad showing for a team with 14 first-year players and only three seniors on a roster of 24. Junior Christy Rudderow, who scored 12 goals to lead the team for the second straight year, will enter her senior year ranked sixth on Muhlenberg's all-time scoring list with 28 career goals.

Bring it in girls . . . we are going to win this one!!!

Christy Rudderow aims to hit the ball with determination in her eyes.

A Set Above The Rest

The young volleyball team saw its streak of 20-win seasons end at five, finishing with a 14-14 record, but 1996 was not without its bright spots. Junior Lauren Buyyounouski had a terrific campaign, earning a spot on the All-Centennial Conference first team and three All-Tournament Teams. She held 19 school records by season's end. Muhlenberg finished fourth at the prestigious Gettysburg Invitational and finished the season on a positive note with seven wins in the final 10 matches. Best of all, virtually the entire cast will return for the 1997 season.

Allison Verduin, Jen Hintz, Caryn Klaff, Jen Morgan, and Aisha Nazario rest before rejoining the team.

What a save by Rebecca Lebo!

Team spirit makes for a great team!

Jen Morgan works hard on a close save.

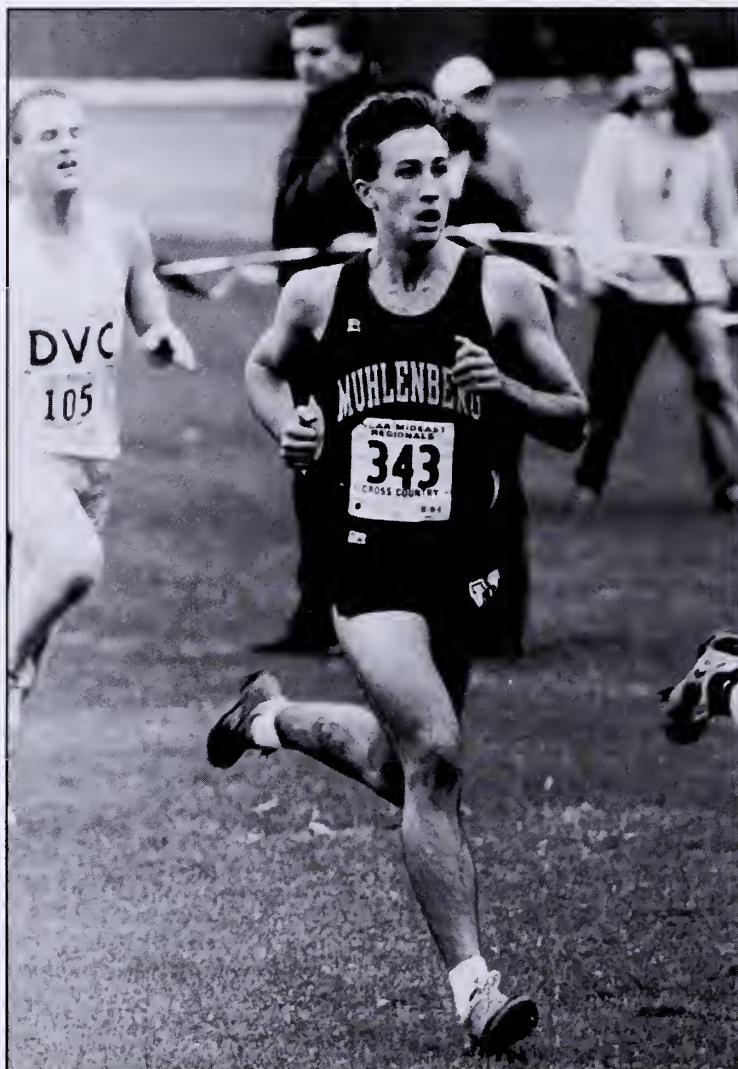

Meredith Cole, Kim Maurer, Allison Verduin, and Milena Negrao get ready to take down the other team.

Kristen Conboy, Milena Negrao, and Lauren Buyyounouski concentrate hard on the game.

Steve Smullin concentrates on the finish line.

Jennie Love and Susan Borek turn it up a notch.

Cindy Bredefeld rounds the turn ready to take control of the pack.

Peter Dunlaevy is determined to pull away from the pack.

A Race For Glory

The 1996 cross country season started with plenty of promise, but injuries took their toll, especially for the men's team. The most conspicuous was to junior Peter Dunlaevy, who in his 22nd career race was beaten across the finish line by a teammate for the first time. The future of the women's team appears to be in good legs, as freshmen Elissa Murphy, Lauren Weisenberger and Cindy Bredefeld were the top three 'Berg runners in the final meet of the season. At the Centennial Conference meet, the men finished ninth and the women eighth.

Katy duFosse maintains the pace while in hot pursuit of a win.

Tom Bailey pushes himself harder than ever.

And One . . .

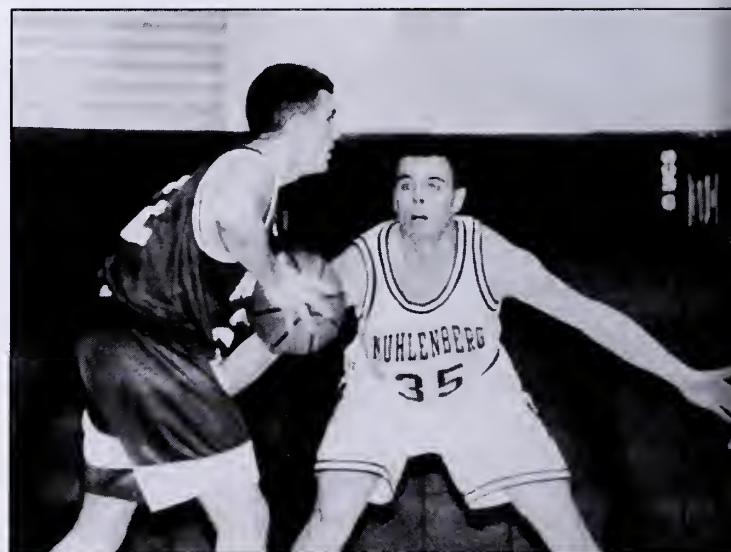

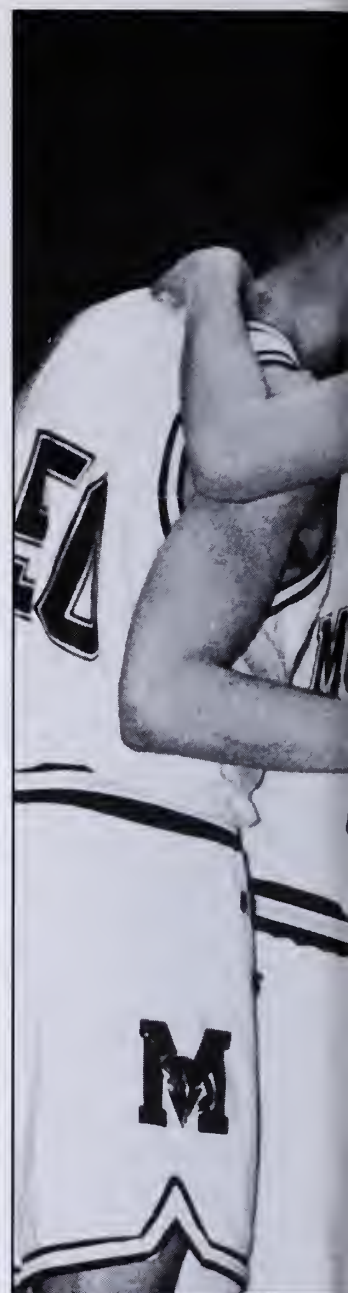

Some things - like winning the Scotty Wood Tournament - were expected. Other things - like winning at Franklin & Marshall for the first time in 11 years - were more surprising. And still others - like beating Haverford in over-time twice, a first in school history - were just plain weird. Put everything together, and the Muhlenberg men's basketball team continued on as a model of consistency and success in the 1996-97 season. The final record of 15-10 marked the 15th straight year with 10 or more wins. The Mules qualified for postseason play for the sixth straight season, although they lost at home to Swarthmore in a tie-breaker game for second place in the Centennial Conference East. That success is not likely to end anytime soon: this team featured only one senior and had three freshmen who scored 20 points in a game. Sophomore center, Jim Doumato, averaged 10.3 points and 8.0 rebounds and was named to three All-Tournament teams. The team's leading scorer, junior Michael Queenan, was the first Mule guard to be named first-team All-Conference in 10 years.

Jeff Graham watches as teammate Bryan Schurmann attempts to block the pass.

There is NO WAY you're getting past Michael Queenan, buddy!

Nothin' but love in the family!

Senior captain Rob Miller makes a graceful pass.

Let's go back out there and finish them off.

The team looks on as Matt Henrich gets a pep-talk from assistant coach Scott McClary.

Co-Captain Elvira LaRocca makes one impressive jump shot!

Amanda Waterbury attempts to dribble the ball in to make a basket.

Lisa Clarke gets ready to make a pass.

Sarah Bedi attempts to gain possession for the Mules.

Reigning The Court Again

As far as championship teams go, Muhlenberg women's basketball team took the road less traveled in 1996-97. An uncanny series of injuries, including a serious car accident, decimated a team that was ranked ninth in Division III in one preseason poll. Only two of the 13 players dressed for every game, and head coach Tammy Smith had to use nine different starting line-ups. The Mules were at their healthiest and their best during the stretch run and won their second straight Centennial Conference East Division championship. Muhlenberg faced mighty Johns Hopkins, undefeated in Conference play and ranked among the top 15 in the nation. Despite falling behind by five points in overtime, the Mules battled back and claimed their first Conference title ever when sophomore Sarah Clarke sank two free throws with 20 seconds remaining for a thrilling 73-71 victory. The resulting automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament brought a first-round game at Scranton, an eventual "Final Four" team, where the 18-8 season ended.

Only The Strong Survive

The saying, "there's strength in numbers", implies large numbers, but the 1996-97 Muhlenberg wrestling team found that there could be strength in small numbers too. First-year coach, Tom Schleicher's, six wrestlers won nearly 60% of their matches, and 2 made history. At the Centennial Conference championships, senior Dan Terpstra swept through the field at heavyweight to win his fourth straight conference crown, becoming the second wrestler in school history to win four conference titles. Although he fell one win short of qualifying for the NCAA Division III Tournament for the second time in his career, Terpstra had a season record of 17-3 and a career mark of 60-15, including a school-record of 31 pins. He was overshadowed at the Centennial meet (at which the Mules placed fourth) by teammate Craig Farris, named Most Outstanding Wrestler after finishing on top of a 150-pound field that included two former champions. Farris was the team leader in wins with a 21-8 record, while fellow sophomore Bob Hough went 18-10 at 118.

Stealing Home

Despite an 8-25 record, the Mule batsmen had a robust season offensively, batting .303 as a team and breaking or tying 20 school records (nine in a 29-3 thrashing of Swarthmore). Senior Tim Mantz and freshman Chuck Draper both broke the school record for hits in a season. Mantz, who is the new standard-holder with 54 hits, batted .429 and finished his career ranking in the all-time top ten in eleven categories. Draper had the highest batting average ever for a Muhlenberg freshman (.405) and set the single-season RBI record (36). Injury-plagued junior Steve Faella hit .441 and belted six home runs in only 68 at-bats. Not to be left out of the record book, the pitching staff set a new mark by fanning 171 opposing batters.

In her first year as head coach, Ruth Gibbs had Muhlenberg playing for the Centennial Conference championship on the last day of the Conference season. Although they fell short, the Mules still had a very satisfying season, finishing with a 16-13 record and placing six players on the All-Conference team. Sophomore Carey Hilton, a .412 hitter, set school records for RBI (36) and extra-base hits (14) in a season and was the first player in school history to get 40 hits in back-to-back seasons. Sophomores Jackie Vanderstreet, who improved her 1996 average 178 points to .400, and Liz Billie were All-Region honorees. Yet another sophomore, Ali Hatola, had a school record 26 stolen bases, leading the Mules to a record 58 swipes.

Stick and Move

A 7-7 record may sound very ordinary, but for Muhlenberg lacrosse in 1997 it was extraordinary, as the Mules set a school record with those seven wins. A team with no superstars did it with balanced scoring and a solid defense that held five straight opponents under ten goals, a first in school history. Among the wins were two by one goal (one against a 10-0 Drew team), one by two goals and one by three goals (against Washington for the first overtime victory in program history). Senior Elizabeth Patterson finished her career as the fifth all-time leading scorer, but should be passed next year by Katie Kenny, who led the team with 35 goals as a sophomore. Senior Jen Blair, playing her first full season of lacrosse, did an excellent job in goal.

Jen Blair, the starting goalie, will certainly be missed next year.

WATCH OUT! Nothing is stopping Katie Kenny now that she is on the move.

No Hurdle Too High

Participation was up again for the track teams in 1997, as the Mules boasted a squad of more than forty members for the first time in six years. Versatile senior Mark Mogavero placed in two events at the Centennial Conference Indoor Championships and three at the outdoor meet, while sophomore Jeff Thiel medaled in the shot put at both meets. Freshman Kurt Kunsch became the first Mule in nearly twenty years to place in the pole vault at a conference meet. For the women's team, sophomore Stephanie Kaliner broke her own school record in the triple jump at the CC outdoor meet, and sophomore Katy duFosse placed in the high jump indoors and outdoors.

Can't Match This

It was a topsy-turvy year for Muhlenberg, which used eleven different singles lineups and fifteen different doubles combinations in twelve matches. But the Mules hung together and finished strong, winning three of their final four matches to end up with a 5-7 record. Sophomore Jared Shafer had an outstanding 8-1 singles record, including the first win ever for Muhlenberg against a player from Washington, and led the team with thirteen wins. Senior Paul Lee advanced to the second round of the Centennial Conference Individual Tournament and finished his career with thirty-three wins.

Fit To A Tee

Despite having no seniors on the team and missing two of their top two players at the Centennial Conference Championship Tournament, the Mules tied Ursinus to bring home the first conference golf title in school history. Muhlenberg tied a conference record by shooting a 311 in the second round, then held off strong charges from Ursinus and NCAA qualifier Western Maryland to hang on for the co-championship. Sophomore Bryan Mullins shot a 236 over the three rounds to tie for third place individually and earn All-Conference honors. The Mules had a record of 9-4-1 in spring competition and won the Gettysburg College Fall Invitational.

Serving it up

In a game of serves and smashes, it was youth that was served for Muhlenberg in 1997 and while the results weren't quite smashing, they were encouraging enough to suggest that the Mules will soon be "set" for the future. The team was led by Co-Captains Kristen Dieter and Melanie Moore. Playing four freshmen in the six single slots, the team gave an indication of things to come with a close 4-3 loss to Division II Kutztown in the season opener. Muhlenberg wound up with a record of 2-9, with freshmen Julia Beyer and Marny Baxt leading the team with nine and seven wins, respectively. Senior Melanie Moore advanced to the second round of the Centennial Conference Individual Tournament.

Julia Hensley is definitely going to hit the ball over the net with this one!

The Spirit of the Mules

The Muhlenberg cheerleaders provide spirit and enthusiasm at the football and men's basketball games. They help to get the crowd into the game and cheering for our team. Through many hours of practice and dedication the cheerleaders have perfected their many routines and cheers. Their intensity and energy is enough to please any crowd. Even when the Mules are falling behind, the cheerleaders keep the team's and the audience's spirits up. Cindy Moshman, a senior who was part of the squad for all four of her years at the 'Berg, helped to set an example of dedication for the underclassmen cheerleaders. Through the leadership of their captains Monica Trinkl and Georgette Weaver the 1997 cheerleaders had a very succesful year.

Alpha Chi Omega & their float in the '96 homecoming parade.

Alpha Chi Omega has continued its tradition of excellence here at Muhlenberg. The 96-97 year was very busy, as our sisters attended many leadership conferences along the East Coast. Moreover, our chapter was recognized by Nationals for several awards. On campus, the Board of Directors awarded Alpha Chi Omega with the Dean of Students Award. We continue to support our philanthropies, the Easter Seal Society, Victims of Domestic Violence, the MacDowell Colony, and the Alpha Chi Omega Foundation. Throughout '96 and '97 we kept busy raising funds and volunteering our time for these groups.

Alpha Chi is involved everywhere on campus. Our sisters are members of Phi Beta Kappa, the accounting, history, psychology and other honor societies. Also, we compete in varsity sports such as field hockey, track, softball, lacrosse, and cheerleading. We also have members in College Choir, Muhlenberg Dancers, Tour Guides, Campus Delegates and more. Jen Blair, for example, was named Greek leader of the Year for her efforts across campus. Alpha Chi Omega has continued to participate and support Muhlenberg in every way possible.
